

Are you eligible for HACC PYP services?

In Victoria the Home and Community Care Program for Younger People supports younger people in optimising their health and wellbeing, while helping them maintain or regain their independence to live safely in their own homes and communities.

In order to access services under this program, you will be required to undergo a holistic assessment to determine eligibility. An assessment is not a guarantee of services.

Eligibility for services is determined during the assessment with an Assessment Officer.

Interface with Commonwealth Home Support Program

If you are an existing HACC PYP client who is turning 65 or Aboriginal person turning 50 you do not need to be referred to My Aged Care for assessment to continue receiving services under the CHSP unless your needs have changed significantly and you require a Home Support Assessment or a Comprehensive Assessment.
